Cautionary Statement Regarding Forward-Looking Statements

This communication contains “forward-looking statements” within the meaning of the safe harbor provisions of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995 that are not limited to historical facts, but reflect Continental’s and UAL’s current beliefs, expectations or intentions regarding future events. Words such as “may,” “will,” “could,” “should,” “expect,” “plan,” “project,” “intend,” “anticipate,” “believe,” “estimate,” “predict,” “potential,” “pursue,” “target,” “continue,” and similar expressions are intended to identify such forward-looking statements. These forward-looking statements include, without limitation, Continental’s and UAL’s expectations with respect to the synergies, costs and other anticipated financial impacts of the proposed transaction; future financial and operating results of the combined company; the combined company’s plans, objectives, expectations and intentions with respect to future operations and services; approval of the proposed transaction by stockholders and by governmental regulatory authorities; the satisfaction of the closing conditions to the proposed transaction; and the timing of the completion of the proposed transaction.

All forward-looking statements involve significant risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from those in the forward-looking statements, many of which are generally outside the control of Continental and UAL and are difficult to predict. Examples of such risks and uncertainties include, but are not limited to, (1) the possibility that the proposed transaction is delayed or does not close, including due to the failure to receive required stockholder or regulatory approvals, the taking of governmental action (including the passage of legislation) to block the transaction, or the failure of other closing conditions, and (2) the possibility that the expected synergies will not be realized, or will not be realized within the expected time period, because of, among other things, significant volatility in the cost of aircraft fuel, the high leverage and other significant capital commitments of Continental and UAL, the ability to obtain financing and to refinance the combined company’s debt, the ability of Continental and UAL to maintain and utilize their respective net operating losses, the impact of labor relations, global economic conditions, fluctuations in exchange rates, competitive actions taken by other airlines, terrorist attacks, natural disasters, difficulties in integrating the two airlines, the willingness of customers to travel by air, actions taken or conditions imposed by the U.S. and foreign governments or other regulatory matters, excessive taxation, further industry consolidation and changes in airlines alliances, the availability and cost of insurance and public health threats.

UAL and Continental caution that the foregoing list of factors is not exclusive. Additional information concerning these and other risk factors is contained in Continental’s and UAL’s most recently filed Annual Reports on Form 10-K, subsequent Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q, recent Current Reports on Form 8-K, and other SEC filings. All subsequent written and oral forward-looking statements concerning Continental, UAL, the proposed transaction or other matters and attributable to Continental or UAL or any person acting on their behalf are expressly qualified in their entirety by the cautionary statements above. Neither Continental nor UAL undertakes any obligation to publicly update any of these forward-looking statements to reflect events or circumstances that may arise after the date hereof.

The following is a transcript of video content featuring Jeffery Smisek, Chairman, President and CEO of Continental Airlines, Inc., that was presented at the Carlson-Wagonlit Travel's "Impact2010 CWT Leadership Summit" in Las Vegas, Nevada, on May 27, 2010:

Hi, I'm Jeff Smisek from Continental Airlines. Well, I've got to hand it to you guys at Carlson Wagonlit: a three-day conference at the magnificent ARIA Hotel and Casino in Las Vegas.

I trust your focus the past few days has been on breakout sessions, keynote speakers and the supplier tradeshow, AND NOT auditioning for the sequel to the "The Hangover!"

I want to take a moment to thank you for your strong support of Continental over the years. Carlson Wagonlit is a long-time, trusted business partner and all of us here value that relationship.

I know Monisa, Kelly, Marie and Ken, who are attending the conference, also share my view and recognize your commitment to service excellence.

I also noticed the theme of your leadership summit is "Impact 2010" and C-W-T consistently delivers some of the highest levels of performance for Continental.

To use the language of the strip, you deal us a winning hand every time!

The working together culture we share is why our partnership is so special.

It's also a direct result of the leadership and vision of Jack O'Neil. To Jack and the entire team at Carlson Wagonlit, we appreciate your support of Continental and we'll continue to work to earn your business every day.

As you know, we've recently announced our plans to merge with United Airlines. This combination brings the best of both carriers: we'll combine Continental's strength in New York and Latin America and our "working together" culture with United's strength on the West Coast and across the Pacific.

Together, we'll be the greatest airline in the world with a comprehensive global network, leading frequent flyer program and great customer service. Monisa will be up in a few minutes to provide more details on our merger.

But before I go, let me thank you once again for your professionalism and the top quality service you provide our customers and Continental Airlines. Keep up the great work and enjoy your final day in Vegas.

In the city of high rollers, nobody hits the jackpot for their customers better than the "aces" at Carlson Wagonlit.
