United Reports February 2017
Operational Performance

CHICAGO, March 8, 2017 – United Airlines (UAL) today reported February 2017 operational results.

UAL's February 2017 consolidated traffic (revenue passenger miles) decreased 0.8 percent and consolidated capacity (available seat miles) decreased 0.4 percent versus February 2016. UAL's February 2017 consolidated load factor decreased 0.3 points compared to February 2016.

"Our operational momentum continued in February, achieving more days without flight cancellations than any other month in the company's history – further demonstrating to our customers that they can count on United to connect them to the moments that matter most," said Scott Kirby, president of United Airlines. "We had more no-cancel days in the last two months than we had from 2011-2015 combined. This record performance is the result of the teamwork from our more than 87,000 professionals who are driven to build the world's best airline for each other, our customers and everyone we serve."

The company continues to expect first-quarter 2017 consolidated passenger unit revenue to be down 1.0 percent to up 1.0 percent compared to the first quarter of 2016.
