United Reports January 2017
Operational Performance

CHICAGO, Feb. 8, 2017 – United Airlines (UAL) today reported January 2017 operational results, achieving the company’s best ever January completion factor on mainline flights.

UAL’s January 2017 consolidated traffic (revenue passenger miles) increased 4.0 percent and consolidated capacity (available seat miles) increased 4.7 percent versus January 2016. UAL’s January 2017 consolidated load factor decreased 0.5 points compared to January 2016. Over 3.0 points of capacity growth in January 2017 was attributed to a higher completion percentage compared to January 2016 due to fewer winter weather disruptions in the month.

“Building on 2016’s great results, United kicked off 2017 with a record-shattering operational performance,” said Scott Kirby, president of United Airlines. “Our team of 86,000 employees is running harder and working harder than at any other time in recent memory as we continue to deliver on our ambition to be the world’s best airline for our employees, customers and everyone we serve.”

Operational achievements and records from January (mainline):

- Achieved best ever January completion factor.
- Finished first among industry peers in completion factor — the first time the company has ever achieved this in January.
- Had six days with 100 percent departure completion, setting a new record for the most the company has ever had in one month.

The company continues to expect first-quarter 2017 consolidated passenger unit revenue to be down 1.0 percent to up 1.0 percent compared to the first quarter of 2016.
