Item 5. Other Events

This week, UAL Corporation is beginning to present its updated business plan to its Board of Directors, Creditors' Committee and potential sources of exit financing. In connection with the development of this business plan and the Company's preparation for exit, based on numerous factors, including the competing claims of the Company's constituencies against UAL and its bankruptcy estates, the Company has concluded that its assets will be insufficient to permit any meaningful distribution to its equity holders. In light of this conclusion, the Company believes that its equity securities have little or no value and it is highly likely that the equity in UAL will be canceled under any plan of reorganization proposed by the Company.
